

CORIATS TRUST COMPANY LIMITED

Privacy Policy

This privacy policy (“the Policy”) relates to the use of any content provided at the registered domain of www.coriat.com (“the Website”), which is the property of Coriats. The Policy governs the use of the Website and the privacy of its users (“Users”). The Policy sets out the various matters where user privacy is concerned and outlines the obligations and requirements of the Users, the Website and Coriats. The way in which the Website processes, stores and protects user data and information are also detailed in the Policy.

Coriats are committed to ensuring and protecting Users’ privacy at any time on the Website or where users communicate electronically with our personnel. If we ask Users to provide any information it will only be used in accordance with the Policy. All personal information retained by Coriats will be kept confidential. Other than with our agents and service providers, we will not share your personal information with any person who is not affiliated with Coriats other than where required to do so by reason of any legal requirement to do so.

When Users sends us their personal information, Coriats and its affiliates may use email addresses and other information to respond to Users’ request for legal information, updates and information regarding our professional services. Coriats does not retain any more personal information of Users other than as we believe is necessary for the purpose of our professional services. Coriats may transfer information held between servers and cross-border data storage facilities which may include Users’ information.

Information We Collect from You

Data can be collected and processed when the Website is in operation by Users. We may collect the following information:

- If a User registers for information by filling in a form, we can collect the information provided.
- Traffic data, weblogs, demographic information and any other communication can be collected. These details come from a User’s visit to the Website and any resource tools used by Users.
- Any communication on the Website or to personnel affiliated with Coriats (e.g. email, telephone calls, etc.) allows us to collect information.
- Other information relevant to customer surveys and/or offers.

Use of Your Information

Information stored and collected about Users allows us to improve our services or products. We may use Users' information for the following purposes:

- If information is requested from the Website concerning services or products offered, we may use Users' data.
- Notification of changes or improvements to our services or the Website may be sent to Users in regards to service changes that may affect our service to Users.
- Existing clients may be contacted in respect of services provided by Coriats.
- From time to time, Coriats may use Users' information to contact Users for market research purposes. We may contact Users by email, telephone, fax or mail.
- We will never sell or transfer to a third party not associated with Coriats any contact information or communications received from Users to the Website.

Use of Cookies

Circumstances may arise when the Website may need to gather information about Users' computers to help provide appropriate services. The data gathered is solely statistical data which may be shared with advertisers. The data collected about Users by cookies are statistical only. No identifying information will be shared about Users or how they made use of the Website. Cookies are used to collect general online usage by using a cookie file. If used this cookie file is downloaded without prompting. It will be placed on a User's hard drive with information transferred to the hard drive allowing the cookies to be used for data collection. A cookie is used to improve any service or overall website characteristics.

Any computer has the option to decline cookies. A web browser option includes an "enable" button to decline cookies. Users may decline cookies by limiting access to sections of the Website.

The Website uses tracking software to monitor Users in order to better understand how Users make use of the Website. This software is provided by Google Analytics which uses cookies to track visitor usage. The software will save a cookie to Users' computer's hard drive in order to track and monitor Users engagement and usage of the Website but will not store, save or collect personal information. Users may read Google's privacy policy here for further information.

Email Newsletter

The Website operates an email newsletter program, used to inform subscribers about products and services supplied by our business. Users can subscribe through an online automated process should they wish to do so but do so at their own discretion.

Some subscriptions may be manually processed through prior written agreement with Users.

Email marketing campaigns published by the Website or Coriats may contain tracking facilities within the actual email. Subscriber activity is tracked and stored in a database for future analysis and evaluation. Such tracked activity may include the opening of emails, forwarding of emails, clicking of links within the email content, times, dates and frequency of activity.

This information is used to refine future email campaigns and supply Users with more relevant content based around their activity.

Storing Your Personal Data

We use globally distributed data services for processing data we collect from Users.

We take all reasonable precautions to ensure Users' data is secure and in accordance with this Policy.

Secured servers are used by Coriats to ensure proper data storage. Information on transactions is kept encrypted for safety measures.

Transmission of data on the internet can never be ultimately secure. Coriats do not assume any liability for the security of information collected electronically or transmitted. Whilst Coriats take all reasonable steps to ensure the best security available for the Website and data collected thereon, Users submit information to the website at their own risk.

Third Party Links

Links might be discovered on our website that belong to third parties. Any third party website on the Website is subject to a privacy policy relating to that website and not this Policy. Users should check the terms and conditions of third party websites. Coriats does not accept liability or responsibility for any third party website.
